Randy Howell: On-Site Construction Volunteer, Wednesday Night Crew Volunteer, Winter Warriors Volunteer, and Rock the Block Volunteer

In 2011, Randy Howell was given the opportunity to volunteer with Habitat through a build that was sponsored by his employer, Chase. Randy enjoyed himself so much that he began getting involved on his own. He became a regular on the Wednesday Night Crew, braved the cold through our Winter Warriors program, and dedicated most of his Saturdays to building homes with Habitat. Most recently, Randy has volunteered to drive the Habitat truck during our Rock the Block events, and worked as a Volunteer Lead for our Home of Hope 2013 Blitz Build.

Randy's desire to give back to the community is what keeps him coming back to Habitat. He enjoys doing construction and working alongside fellow volunteers, staff, and future homeowners. He appreciates working with partner families as they strive to make their dream of homeownership a reality.

Outside of Habitat, Randy is busy raising two children. He enjoys cooking, traveling, and outdoor sports.

When given the opportunity to share some advice with future volunteers, Randy enforced the idea that anyone can get involved. "Don't let your inhibitions hold you back from giving back. Regardless of your skills, you are always welcome!"

Adam Daugherty: Graham School ReStore Volunteer

Adam was just a freshman when he started volunteering at the ReStore through a program at The Graham School. He is now a junior, and taking on a leadership role with this year's group of Graham School volunteers! Adam works to mentor new freshman volunteers by developing their skills, and finding new and interesting ways for them to make the most of their volunteer time.

Adam enjoys volunteering in the ReStore because of the atmosphere and the people. He likes meeting customers and helping them find items that best suit their needs. Adam also enjoys working with a friendly and outgoing staff that is truly dedicated to Habitat's mission.

Outside of Habitat, Adam works in a computer repair shop and volunteers at a local library. He enjoys designing websites, exploring technology, hiking, and running.

Adam is currently gearing up for his senior year at the Graham School by going through the Gateway program and researching internships.

Adam's advice for fellow volunteers, "find a fun way to work through tasks and always introduce yourself to customers and other volunteers!"
